Business center serves home office professionals

SOHO Hero opens in Forsyth

Professionals working out of their homes may not have the facilities available for a meeting, nor would they likely want clients coming to their homes.

SOHO Hero Business and Meeting Center opened at the Publix Shopping Center at Castleberry and Bethelview roads in Forsyth County to serve those business professionals and corporate telecommuters. The center offers professional meeting spaces, video-teleconferencing, business services, Wi-Fi connections and all the Starbucks coffee they can drink.

A shipping and printing center has been paired with professional meeting spaces by franchise owners Joe and Jane Keith. Private conference rooms allow business people to step out of their homes and into professional workspace, complete with 19-inch monitors, Web cams, whiteboards, LCD projectors and IP telephone systems with Web collaboration software. Computers hooked into the phone systems can function as interactive whiteboards, letting people in different locations to see and edit the same document.

SOHO Hero offers monthly packages or non-member rates.

Chris Kouloukas created SOHO Hero in 1997 when he discovered small office and home office professionals had no place to go for meetings or other business services. Other Georgia locations are in Rome and Roswell (east Cobb).
